

East Tennessee State University
Becoming the University of Choice
Statement of Vision, Mission, and Values

OUR VISION

To be the university of choice in the region and the best regional university in the nation.

OUR MISSION

Mission Statement

- Educate students to become responsible, enlightened, and productive citizens;
- Conduct scholarship that improves the human condition;
- Serve business, education, government, health care systems, and community; and
- Enhance the cultural environment of the region.

Institutional Purpose

ETSU is a state-supported, comprehensive, regional university in the State University and Community College System of Tennessee and is governed by the Tennessee Board of Regents. Although the majority of students are from Northeast Tennessee and adjacent states, many qualified students from other states and countries also enroll. ETSU offers programs through nine schools and colleges related to five areas: arts and sciences, business, education, health sciences and services, and technology. ETSU is committed to providing opportunities for the personal development of all its students, faculty, and staff within a framework of life-long learning. A viable athletic program is an integral part of the University's commitment to student life.

ETSU affirms the fundamental values of higher education: protecting free interchange of ideas through "academic freedom," promoting curiosity and desire for learning, stimulating thought and self-reflection, and encouraging an ethical society. The University acts on the belief that educational opportunities should be available to all eligible persons without regard to age, sex, color, race, religion, national origin, disability, or veteran status.

ETSU offers broad programming for undergraduates, embracing the philosophy of a liberal education for all, with special programs leading to a primary level of expertise in the arts and sciences and in selected professional fields. These programs also address needs of students not fully prepared for college-level work, nontraditional students returning to the classroom, and gifted students seeking more challenging educational activities.

ETSU offers graduate programs that provide advanced specialized preparation to meet the needs of the student population while facilitating development of the region. These include: master's programs in certain academic, technical, and professional fields; doctoral programs in education and in biomedical sciences; and programs leading to the Doctor of Medicine degree.

ETSU's Division of Health Sciences, composed of the colleges of Medicine, Nursing, and Public and Allied Health, serves the state, region, and nation as a comprehensive academic health sciences center.

ETSU faculty are accomplished and practicing scholars, current and active in their disciplines, who incorporate the products of their scholarship in their teaching; in professional publications, exhibits, and performances; and in professional services to business, education, government, and health care providers.

ETSU assumes a leadership role in providing facilities and programs that improve the intellectual, cultural, political, and social environment of Northeast Tennessee and the Southern Appalachian region.

OUR VALUES

ETSU pursues its mission through a student-centered community of learning reflecting high standards and promoting a balance of liberal arts and professional preparation, continuous improvement, and based on core values where:

GENERAL INFORMATION

East Tennessee State University Profile

History . . .

Situated in Northeast Tennessee, East Tennessee State University is a state-supported, coeducational institution and one of the principal campuses governed by the Tennessee Board of Regents. Its main campus is located in Johnson City with a center in Elizabethton and sites in Kingsport, Bristol and Greeneville. Chartered in 1909 as East Tennessee State Normal School, the institution experienced several name changes before achieving university status in 1963. East Tennessee State Normal School, which opened in 1911, became East Tennessee State Teachers College in 1925; five years later, the name was changed to State Teachers College, Johnson City. Beginning in 1943, the institution was known as East Tennessee State College for 20 years. Today, ETSU is a multifaceted university offering two-year, four-year, and graduate programs of study through nine colleges and schools: College of Applied Science and Technology, College of Arts and Sciences, College of Business, College of Education, James H. Quillen College of Medicine, College of Nursing, College of Public and Allied Health, School of Continuing Studies, and School of Graduate Studies.

The James H. Quillen College of Medicine, one of three state-supported medical colleges in Tennessee, offers a program leading to the M.D. degree as well as accredited residency programs in family practice, internal medicine, internal medicine/pediatrics, obstetrics/gynecology, pathology, pediatrics, psychiatry, and surgery. Accelerated residency programs in family practice and internal medicine are also offered. Created by the Tennessee legislature in 1974, the College of Medicine enrolled its first class of 24 students in 1978, awarded the first M.D. degrees four years later and as of June 2000 will have awarded 986 M.D. degrees. In 1988, this college combined with the colleges of Nursing and Public and Allied Health to form a Division of Health Sciences.

Student Population . . .

The student population totals 11,681, including undergraduate, graduate, and medical students and medical residents. While the majority of students are from Tennessee and the surrounding southeastern region, 43 states are represented along with 49 foreign countries. Housing for 2,587 students is available in residence halls, efficiency apartments, and married student housing.

Academic Overview . . .

Committed to the needs of all its students -- from those who have emerging potential for university-level coursework to the gifted -- ETSU provides all citizens in the region opportunities to continue lifelong learning. The university offers more than 100 degree programs organized within the areas of arts and sciences, business, education, health sciences and services, and technology. All programs and degrees are offered during the regular day schedule, and extensive evening programs are also provided. Some 5,000-10,000 persons are served annually through continuing education and extended service programs.

The university seeks to serve as a center for intellectual and cultural growth as it nurtures an educational environment that respects individuality and stimulates creativity. To earn a bachelor's degree, a student must complete a minimum of 128 semester hours of credit, consisting of coursework from the major field of study, the minor field of study (if required), and the general education core requirements. The university's General Education Program includes two parts. Part I is a Core Curriculum of 41-44 semester credit hours that address specific academic "Proficiencies" and "Areas of Familiarity." Part II is specific Requirements Reinforcing Academic Proficiency and requires students to complete during college a minimum number of courses that reinforce academic proficiency by providing intensive experiences in writing, communicating orally, and using information technology. Advanced standing credit is accepted and recorded as "passed hours" of credit toward graduation through the College-Level Examination Program (CLEP) and Advanced Placement (AP) Program of the College Board, the Proficiency Examination Program (PEP) in nursing, the International Baccalaureate (IB) Program and DANTES Subject Standardized Tests.

A career counseling service and an advisement center provide professional guidance for students who have not reached a decision concerning a college major. Remedial and developmental courses are offered for students who lack a sufficient level of proficiency, as determined from ACT or SAT scores and/or an evaluation assessment examination.

An Army ROTC program, available through the Department of Military Science, provides scholarship opportunities and offers advanced courses that may result in a commission.

Athletics . . .

Intercollegiate and intramural sports programs are available. The university is a member of the NCAA Division 1 in all sports except football, which is Division 1-AA. Sports for men are baseball, basketball, cross country, football, golf, tennis, and track. Sports for women are basketball, cross country, golf, soccer, softball, tennis, track, and volleyball. Memorial Center, one of the most functional athletics and convocation centers in the nation, is also home for ETSU's football, basketball, tennis, and track teams.

Calendar . . .

East Tennessee State University operates on a semester calendar consisting of a fall semester in which classes begin in late August and semester examinations are completed prior to the Christmas holidays; a spring semester in which classes begin in early January and semester examinations are completed during the first week of May; intersession, a three-week intensive study term beginning in mid-May; and two five-week summer sessions, one beginning in early June and the other beginning in mid-July.

The Faculty . . .

Including the James H. Quillen College of Medicine, the university has 656 full-time faculty members. The percentage of faculty members holding terminal degrees is approximately 75%. The average class size is 20, which allows the faculty to give students individual instruction and attention and to share interests and expertise. Entering students are required to meet with faculty advisers prior to registration for classes. Advisement is conducted primarily through a one-on-one interview.

Support Facilities . . .

ETSU provides a wide range of computer resources in support of instruction, research, administration, and public service. The administrative systems utilize a cluster of Digital Alpha computers under the VMS operating system. Several Windows NT 4.0 servers supplement this system. Registration for classes is now predominately done online through our Web for Students system that runs on an NT server. Linked with this system is our Payment Gateway NT server, which enables students to pay tuition and fees, using a credit card online.

The students are supported by a Windows NT 4.0 domain that covers the main campus, Bristol, Kingsport, and Greeneville centers. Individual accounts for e-mail and internet use are generated for all enrolled students guaranteeing every student has the access they need to compete in an increasingly technology oriented collegiate and research environment. Students have available to them over 200 hundred PCs in 6 labs that have the same software and can access their individual accounts from any of these computers. The main PC lab is located in the D.P. Culp Center with additional labs in Sam Wilson 124, Gilbreath 105 as well as the Bristol, Kingsport, and Greeneville centers. The Culp Center computer is a dedicated open lab, but the others may be scheduled for classes.

Macintosh computers have a healthy presence on campus. Three Macintosh labs are open for student use and are equipped with machines ranging from iMacs to G3s and G4s. Macintosh labs are predominately located in Warf-Pickel Hall in rooms 419, 207, and 523. These labs may be scheduled for classes.

There are also a number of departmental labs across campus supporting both the PC and Macintosh platforms.

The Sherrod Library contains the major learning resources that support the university's programs of teaching and research. With a seating capacity for 1,800 readers, the library contains over half a million volumes, over one million microforms, 3,500 periodical subscriptions and more than 350,000 federal and state documents and maps. The Media Center contains the university's collection of audio-visual resources; in-house listening and viewing facilities are provided.

The university's Center for Appalachian Studies and Services, an accomplished Center of Excellence in Tennessee, is a hub of scholarly, educational, community service, and artistic activities addressing the needs and interests of the Appalachian region. The center has three divisions: the Research and Programs Office, the Reece Museum, one of only twelve accredited museums in Tennessee, which houses several permanent collections and presents a varied schedule of exhibits, and the Archives of Appalachia, which contains the most significant collection of materials about the Appalachian region in the country. The Center publishes Now & Then, the Appalachian magazine, and helps sponsor the Bluegrass and Country Music Program and the Appalachian-Scottish and Irish Studies program, and hosts the Governor's School for Tennessee Heritage each summer. The D.M. Brown Hall science building and the Quillen College of Medicine provide extensive research laboratory and training facilities. Among other facilities of interest are Slocumb Galleries, which enables students and others to view works of past and contemporary artists, while allowing art students to display their own works; the Hutcheson Hall Planetarium, which annually attracts hundreds of visitors to campus; the Gilbreath Hall Theater, a restored early-century theater; and an outdoor Amphitheater, originally constructed by the WPA and restored to its original beauty.

The modern D.P. Culp University Center contains a theater/auditorium, student forum, computer lab, post office, bookstore, food market, ballroom, restaurants, cafeterias, and recreational and meeting rooms.

Over 200 clubs and organizations are available on campus, including chapters of national fraternities and sororities. Special interest groups and support services include the Black Affairs Association, Student Government Association, International Students Organization, Career Development Office, Medical Student Government Association, Center for Adult Programs and Services, Counseling Center, Health Services, Veterans Services,

Placement Services, Special Services, and various religious organizations.

Beyond the Campus Setting . . .

ETSU is a member of the Southeastern Association for Research in Astronomy (SARA), a consortium of five universities that operates a 0.9-m telescope at Kitt Peak National Observatory in Arizona. Astronomers at the five participating universities have retrofitted the nineteen-fifties vintage telescope with robotic controls that allow them to use it from their local campuses, providing an unprecedented means for state-of-the-art research and instruction. Other members of the consortium include the Florida Institute of Technology, the University of Georgia, Valdosta State University and Florida International University.

ETSU's Office of International Programs encourages students to study abroad, especially at our exchange universities. ETSU has exchange programs with the University of Rostock, University of Bremen, and the University of Technology in Karlsruhe in Germany; Anhui University, Shanghai Technical College of Metallurgy, University of Petroleum, and North China University of Technology in China; Bolivar State University in Ecuador, the University of Newcastle in Australia; Semmelweis University in Hungary; Far Eastern National Medical University in Russia; University Trollhattan-Uddevalla in Sweden; University of Huddersfield in England; and the Scottish Studies program at the University of Edinburgh, Scotland.

The office promotes matriculation of international students at ETSU and the internationalization of the curriculum. It pursues international contacts and provides speakers and events for the university community. An annual International Day brings area secondary school pupils to the ETSU campus to stimulate thinking about various cultures and also to consider the option of studying here. The Office of International Programs also promotes domestic exchange via the NSE (National Student Exchange) to over 160 U.S. colleges and universities.

The office administers a faculty travel fund in support of research and teaching abroad especially, but not exclusively, at our exchange universities.

The Director of the Office of International Programs is the official ETSU Fulbright representative and the National Security Education Program representative. The National Security Education Program provides resources for scholarships, fellowships, and grants to encourage undergraduate and graduate students to add an international dimension to their studies by studying geographic areas, languages, and fields of study that are considered critical in the maintenance of U.S. national security. In addition, the Office of International Programs houses a library of current material relating to opportunities for both faculty and students to teach, study, and do research abroad.

As well as the academic and technical dimensions of its activity, the Office of International Programs provides the support facilities for ensuring that students both here and abroad succeed culturally, socially, and emotionally. ETSU's international students and scholars represent more than fifty countries from which our community benefits. The office is open to all people wishing to develop the international aspect of their experience at ETSU.

The university's cooperative education program gives students in most major fields of study an opportunity to alternate work periods and classes on a semester-in/semester-out system. Through cooperative education, in addition to gaining valuable work experience and employment connections, students may help to finance educational costs and earn college credit.

The university has cross-enrollment agreements, available to full-time ETSU students, with nearby Milligan College and Emmanuel School of Religion. ETSU is affiliated with the Penland School of Crafts, located in Penland, N.C., and provides credit for coursework completed there. The university is also a participant in the Southern Regional Education Board's Academic Common Market.

Requirements for Admission . . .

Students seeking admission as first-time freshmen must present a minimum composite ACT score of 19 or a comparable SAT combined score or must earn a minimum high school GPA of 2.3 (on a 4.0 scale). Tennesseans who graduate from public high schools must successfully complete the Tennessee Competency Test. Assessment evaluation examinations to determine levels of proficiency are required for entering freshmen who present ACT composite, English, or math scores lower than 19. Freshman applicants must meet specific high school course requirements, including 4 units of English, 1 unit of visual and/or performing arts, 2 units of algebra I and II, 1 unit of geometry, 2 units of natural/physical sciences, 1 unit of social studies, 1 unit of U.S. history, and 2 units of a single foreign language. Transfer applicants must offer satisfactory academic records from degree granting institutions. Transfer admission requirements are consistent with the university's retention standards.

Financial Aid Information . . .

Nearly seventy percent of the university's students receive federal, state, and private sources of financial aid. Four general types of assistance are available: scholarships, grants, student employment and loan programs. Students are encouraged to complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) electronically at <http://www.fafsa.ed.gov> or use the paper application available at high school guidance offices, college financial aid offices, or by calling 800-4FED-AID (433-3243). Additional information is available at the university's financial aid website, <http://etsu.edu/finaid/financial.htm>. The FAFSA must be completed each year, as soon as possible after January 1st. The university's Office of Financial Aid can be contacted directly at 423-439-4300 or 800-704-ETSU (3878).

About the Johnson City Area . . .

Johnson City, Kingsport, and Bristol are part of the Tri-Cities Tennessee/Virginia Metropolitan Statistical Area -- the nation's 84th largest MSA with a population exceeding 462,300. Johnson City, a progressive city with a population of over 57,000, is located close to the state lines of Virginia, Kentucky, West Virginia, North Carolina, and South Carolina. Recreational opportunities abound, including boating, skiing (snow and water), white water rafting, fishing, jogging, climbing, and hiking. Interstate highways 181 and 81 provide access to the area by automobile. The Tri-Cities Regional Airport provides access by commercial airlines.

The University Complex . . .

ETSU's main campus in Johnson City consists of 366 acres and 63 academic and administrative buildings including a new $28 million Sherrod Library and the new $259,000 Harry D. Powell Astronomy Observatory. Adjacent to the campus is the 247-acre Veterans Affairs Medical Center, the 75-acre Johnson City Medical Center, and Woodridge Hospital, consisting of five acres. On the VA grounds, ETSU conducts its medical programs using the facilities available in six buildings, including the hospital complex. The university's Palma L. Robinson Clinical Education Center is located on a seven-acre plot of land on nearby State of Franklin Road. This $6 million, 67,755-square-foot ambulatory care facility, completed in the spring of 1992, houses some 72 examination and 21 special diagnostic rooms as the center provides outpatient services in surgery, obstetrics and gynecology, internal medicine, psychiatry, and pediatrics. Faculty from all units of the Division of Health Sciences are involved in teaching and training at the center, which also offers consultation rooms, conference rooms, and a large classroom. ETSU's new $36 million basic sciences building is scheduled to be completed on the VA grounds in January, 2001.

The university operates sites in Kingsport, Bristol and Greeneville along with the Nave Center in Elizabethton. ETSU at Greeneville is operated in cooperation with Walters State Community College.

ETSU/UT at Kingsport offers a wide range of undergraduate and graduate courses with classes available during the day and at night, and on weekends. The University of Tennessee also offers graduate degrees in engineering and library science and other non-degree courses at the Kingsport center. Facilities on the 100-acre site include a library; computer, chemistry, and biology labs; gymnasium, student center, mini-market bookstore; and distance education classrooms. Student services include academic advisement, financial aid and career counseling; intramural activities; and registration/fee payment.

ETSU at Bristol is located at 1227 Volunteer Parkway in Executive Park Plaza. The 20,000-square-foot facility has a computer lab; distance education classrooms; a student lounge; and, convenient access and parking. Student services include academic advisement; personal and career counseling; financial aid advisement by appointment; bookstore services; registration assistance; and student I.D. production.

Through sequenced course offerings in selected undergraduate and graduate areas, ETSU students attending both the Bristol and Kingsport campuses can earn up to three years of academic work and can complete their degree in some majors.

The ETSU at Greeneville site is located in the Greene County Higher Education Center in Downtown Greeneville. ETSU classroom and office facilities are provided in cooperation with Walters State Community College. Working closely with Walters State, the ETSU at Greeneville site offers academic courses at the junior, senior and graduate levels that complement WSCC's freshman and sophomore programming. ETSU course delivery at the site utilizes distance education technology as well as selected courses taught on-site by university faculty.

The Marshall T. Nave Center in Elizabethton houses ETSU's programs in the health related professions, including allied health, radiologic technology, medical laboratory technology, dental laboratory technology, respiratory therapist, dental assisting, and respiratory technician.

Alumni . . .

More than 60,800 people have graduated from ETSU since 1911. Many recipients of undergraduate degrees return to pursue graduate studies. Some 31,500 of ETSU's alumni reside within a 100-mile radius of the university while over 30,100 live in the State of Tennessee alone. The overall alumni gender breakout is 48% male, 52% female.

Cultural Diversity . . .

The guiding principle in all we do and say at East Tennessee State University must be respect for the individual. Through our teaching, research, and public service, we must affirm the fundamental human values of courage, honor, pride, compassion, tolerance, and understanding. These values transcend time and place. They transcend technology. They rise above educational trends. They are the enduring principles that must be observed in order for the human race to flourish.

ETSU commits itself to creating and perpetuating an environment in which diversity of people and thought is respected. We embrace the belief that differences should be celebrated, and we believe that intolerance poses the single most dangerous threat to the continued existence of the race.

Our aspiration is to create a university that fully appreciates the culture and the history of its surrounding region while it seeks to understand and accept the practices, beliefs, and customs of the greater global community.

It is ETSU's role not only to teach and to train but to inspire those among us as we build on our individual differences to achieve a common appreciation of our humanity.
